The new Chairman of Bladena is Mr. Jens Egelund-Müller. He brings a solid experience and expertise to the company, in driving a customer focused commercial mindset that will enable Bladena's future growth, internationally. He has held senior positions in multinational and SME's throughout his +25Years career and will use his experience together with the executive team to unleash the full potential of Bladena.

"I am honored to be joining the Board of Bladena as Chairman," says Jens. "The company has a large potential which I am looking forward to support and by widening the understanding of these issues secure a better profitability for wind turbine owners across the world. Not least in a time, where blades are becoming larger and thereby need Bladena's insights and solutions. I am looking forward to working with the team to drive growth and build upon its already impressive journey."

Alongside the appointment of Jens Egelund-Müller, Bladena is also welcoming a new board member, Mr. Peter Grabau. Peter brings with him many years of knowledge from the wind turbine blade design and manufacturing part of the value chain, having worked in executive positions at several multinational OEMs.

“Bladena has for many years been a company that I have followed closely. Throughout the organization there is a lot of passion for wind turbine blades. They have a unique set of skills that I look forward to digging deeper into, so that we can successfully grow the company even more,” says Peter Grabau.

Bladena has built its reputation as a Blade Expert in renewable energy, and these appointments are just the latest example of the company's commitment to driving innovation and growth in the industry. With Mr. Egelund-Müller and Mr. Grabau on board, Bladena is well-positioned to continue delivering value to its customers and stakeholders, while also generating sustainable growth and profitability for its shareholders.
